Rider Strong, In the world of self-balancing scooters, there's a whole new class of rider to watch out for: The "freerider." Freeriders are truly the mix of mechanical skill and physics mastery that make the power-pedaling, heel-to-toe motion of normal e-scooters so exhilarating. They're also completely overkill when it comes to real-world obstacles and road conditions. Ouabain induces Ca²⁺ release from sarcoplasmic reticulum in guinea pig ventricular myocytes. The effects of ouabain, a cardiac glycoside, on intracellular Ca²⁺ concentration ([Ca²⁺]_i) were studied in single guinea pig ventricular myocytes loaded with the Ca²⁺ sensitive fluorescent dye fura 2. The concentrations of extracellular [K⁺] were reduced to 5-20 mM. The resting Ca²⁺ concentrations were between 30 and 60 nM and were reduced to 20-30 nM by the addition of 10⁽⁻⁶⁾ M ouabain. Cytoplasmic Ca²⁺ concentration ([Ca²⁺]_c) was estimated from changes in fluorescence intensity and Ca²⁺ concentrations were calculated from measured Ca²⁺ concentrations and resting cytosolic volume. Ouabain at 10⁽⁻⁶⁾ M induced an initial rise and then a gradual decline in [Ca²⁺]_c. At 10⁽⁻⁶⁾ M ouabain the initial [

I have the values for the rows in an array, how do I delete these rows from the 2d array? I have this as an array, I have to delete the rows that contain words in the banned words array. The banned words is an array of words that shouldn't be in the strings. The method should return the new array, or, if the 2d array can't be emptied, it should return the original 2d array with a flag that was set. A: For the most part, C# arrays are 0-based arrays. So in order to delete an element, you'll want to use the following pattern: int rowIndex = itemIndex-1; // -1 to go back to the first element in your array int columnIndex = index - 1; // Make sure to check if it's out of bounds if (rowIndex = array.GetLength(0) || columnIndex = array.GetLength(1)) { return default(T[,]); // Will return the default value which is null } // Do stuff with array[rowIndex,columnIndex] // Then, to clear the data in the array, do this: // If you're only replacing the same data, simply do this: array[rowIndex, columnIndex] = default(T); If you need to actually change it, that's where it f678ea9f9e
